Fair Trade Fortnight: Classes view 'Black Gold' in Library

Two classes visited the library to watch screenings of the Fair Trade Documentary 'Black Gold'. Ard Scoil Ris and St. Nessian's were the two schools represented. Sinead McDonnell, who is the Environment and Fairtrade Officer for the City of Limerick was on hand to introduce the film and explain a bit more about the movement to the students. Over 50's students in total attended.

Mayor Launches exciting new Information Service in WHC Library

The InfoLink Information Service Desk was launched by the Mayor Cllr. Ger Fahy, City Librarian Ms. Dolores Doyle and the Chairman of the Regeneration Offices in the City, Mr. Brendan Kenny.

"InfoLink" is a new approach to providing Information Services, with local agencies and service providers pooling resources so that information can be accessed by the general public in a convenient location.

InfoLink provides information on a range of issues: community grants and services, estate management services, social welfare and HSE services, job-seekers support, back-to-education advice and secretarial support.

Our First Library Member review !

What Happened: There was a girl called Alison Kingsley. She had a past life where she was murdered. When she was reborn she wasn't sure who killed her.

Good or Bad Ending: At the end the detective called Walsh found out that the murderer was a man called Oliver. Alison only remembered some of her murder case.

What I Liked: I liked the way that Alison didn't have bad nightmares about when Oliver strangled her and Walsh solved the case before he retired.

Favourite Characters: Alison, Tom, her Mom and Dad and Walsh the detective.

Reviewer: Siobhan Marie O'Connor

Infolink

10am - 1pm Tue-Thurs

A new service now open in the library which will provide citizen's information to the local community, supported by The Paul Partnership

WHC Library Presents.....BIRD'S EYE

In April artist Sean Lynch and bird specialist Lloyd Buck will produce a film in Moyross. It will feature a video camera attached to the heads of two peregrine falcons. The falcons will spend several days flying around the neighbourhood and the camera will record a bird's eye view of the area.

As part of the project, a falconry demonstration will occur in Moyross, and all interested parties are kindly invited to contact the library or Sean Lynch for further details on how to get involved.

The project is produced by Watch House Cross Community Library's Percent for Art Scheme.

Contact: Sean Lynch 087-4138791

Spectrum Exhibition A Huge Success

Maria is a Branch Librarian with Limerick City Council, Maria's photographs are Black and White, (countryside)taken in the picturesque town of Gallinaro in the middle of Italy.in the Lazio region,this is also a pilgrimage town,where the people come from all over Italy and further come to the shrine of Bambino Jesu(Baby Jesus)

Salvatore Conte is originally from Arce,22 kilometres from The famous Monte Cassino,his photographs are mixed,some taken in Ireland and in Italy. Maurice Foley is a local artist, his work is mainly Landscapes and cityscapes.

Davide Tullio,St Nessans N.S is 7 yrs old and has three small paintings in the exhibition.

Limerick City Boundary Extension Signed into Law at WHC Library

I am determined to see through the actions set out in John Fitzgerald's report and this is another concrete action delivered. This Order will help reinforce the substantial momentum being generated to establish the conditions for a lasting and sustainable improvement on the lives of the people of Moyross, its wider neighbourhood and the city and region as a whole.

This is an exciting time for Limerick. I have a strong personal connection with Limerick City and I will continue to give my full support to the regeneration and development work underway here. I particularly welcome the depth of cooperation between Limerick City Council and Limerick County Council on this issue.

Google Books

<http://books.google.ie/>

Google Book Search is a tool from Google that searches the full text of books that Google scans, OCRs, and stores in its digital database.

The service was formerly known as Google Print when it was introduced at the Frankfurt Book Fair in October 2004. When relevant to a user's keyword search, up to three results from the Google Book Search index are displayed above search results in the Google Web Search service (google.com).

A user may also search just for books at the dedicated Google Book Search service.

Clicking a result from Google Book Search opens an interface in which the user may view pages from the book as well as content-related advertisements and links to the publisher's website and booksellers.

Through a variety of access limitations and security measures, some based on user-tracking, Google limits the number of viewable pages and attempts to prevent page printing and text copying of material under copyright.

The Google Book Search service remains in a beta stage but the underlying database continues to grow, with more than a hundred thousand titles added by publishers and authors and some 10,000 works in the public domain now indexed and included in search results.

Google Book Search allows public-domain works and other out-of-copyright material to be downloaded in PDF format. For users outside the United States, though, Google must be sure that the work in question is indeed out of copyright under local laws. the public domain."
