Burton, D.L., Carrigaholt Castle, Co Clare, and was attired in rich ivory brocade handsomely trimmed with Limerick lace, the flounce on skirt being caught with sprays of orange blossom and white heather. She wore a handsome Carrickmacross lace veil (lent by her aunt, Mrs. Willington), and pearl and diamond ornaments, which, with her bouquet of white lilac, heather, and orange blossoms, were the gift of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaids were Miss Gladys Rose, cousin of the bride, and Miss Drew, niece of the bridegroom, who were dressed in pretty white silk costumes, trimmed with lace ; large black picture hats, and carried bouquets of pink carnations, the gift of the bridegroom, as also were their turquoise and pearl bangles. Mr. Clennell Drew, Drewscourt, High Sheriff of Co. Limerick, acted as best man. The bride's travelling dress was of heliotrope Fingal tweed trimmed with Irish crochet, with hat to match. The list of presents, which were numerous and costly—will appear in a later issue.

The trousseau was designed and supplied by Messrs. Wm. Todd and Company, and the wedding cake by Miss Smith, Thomas street.
