The Limerick Corporation Index of 1843

Introduction

The Limerick Corporation Index is a manuscript listing of abstracts from Corporation leases compiled by the City's Law Agent, Robert Potter in 1843. It forms the basis of Potter's report to the Corporation printed in 1844 by William Canter of William Street¹. The reason for the compilation was the desire of the Corporation to question the legality of the long leases granted on extremely generous terms to members of the old corrupt corporation. 158 leases had been handed over by the old corporation, while details of a further 11 were discovered in the Registry Office in Dublin. These form the first part of the Index and are discussed in Potter's report. The source or sources of a further 123 entries are not recorded.

The whereabouts of the original document is unknown. This transcript was prepared from a photocopy in Limerick City Library. Clearly the original was available until quite recently but its present whereabouts are unknown. It is presumed to be awaiting rediscovery at the back of a cupboard in City Hall. Limerick Museum holds full copies of two of the leases, these are 21)=LM3544 and 61)= LM1934

The entries are recorded across a double page in the original and photocopied in that manner onto A3 paper. It is not possible to give the full dimensions of the original because it was slightly taller than the A3 page. It was 21.4cm wide. All the pages are feint lined with ruled columns added. On the left-hand leaf there are seven columns, headed, "No.", "Date of Lease", "Denomination", "Term of Years", "Yearly Rent £ s d", and, "Expiration of Lease". The right hand leaf has two columns headed, "Description and Boundaries of Premises", and, "Observations". In the observation column there are a number of notes in pencil, scattered throughout, which have not been fully picked up by the photocopy. These have been omitted, but observations in ink have been included. Where a description continues onto a new page the final word on one page is on a separate line and is repeated as the first word of the next. These words are not repeated.

{ } used for comments put into parentheses in the text by the original compiler

() used for comments by the present transcriber

Superscript is used where abbreviations are in smaller letters raised above the line, and where omissions have been added. Transcription errors are struck through.

The initial number in bold is the modern reference sequence. It is identical to the figure in the first column for the first 158 records, but 158 is used twice in the original and the numbering stops at 169. There is a later group numbered from one again.

Leases 1-158 are those handed over by the Old Corporation and 159-169 are those from the Registry Office. Both groups are listed in chronological order. Five groups follow, each listed in chronological order. None of these are numbered in the first column. They are 170-184, 185-90, 191-196, 197-198 and 199-219. The final numbered run is 220-291 and again it is in chronological order. There is a final single document, 292. It would appear from this that there were seven sources for the second part and that runs of documents were added, as they became available.

Many of the lands named below figure in the sales of Corporation lands on 21st February 1878 and 11th July 1882² and many are also identifiable in the 1655 Civil Survey.³
